THE POISONED ALMOND.

The vaunting hosts of England had fled, smitten and shattered, from the fatal rifles of the Americans, blazing under the eagle eye of the immortal Jackson, and the glad tidings had leaped from the red field of battle to the anxious hearts of the citizens of New Orleans; and as night came down upon the rescued city, the glare of huge bonfires, the flashing of dancing torches and the glitter of innumerable lamps, with jubilant shouts, cries, and exultant laughter, that met eye and ear at every turn, betokened the victor's triumph. The humble home of the artisan and the proud mansion of the rich alike shone with light, and resounded with sounds of joy. But no home was so gay and resplendent as that of the wealthy and hospitable Robert Dainemert, whose twin-born sons had that day, and ever since the landing of the foe, been foremost in the battle, and who were now fresh from victory to see their only sister wedded to William Avern, a young and distinguished captain of the Tennessee Rifles. Long before Packenham gave his soldiers the bandit watchword of "Booty and Beauty," William Avern and Clara Dainemert had pledged their vows; and their loves having gained the willing consent of Gen. Robert, the day that should see them united had been fixed upon, and that day was the 8th of January. Though when the time was appointed, none dreamed that it was to be a day of battle. Honored and unscathed the young Tennesseean had ridden from the field as the enemy turned in defeat and dismay, and with old white-haired Dainemert and his warrior boys, had hastened to bear the happy news to mother, sister, and betrothed.

"She shall be yours this night, my dear William," said the old general, as they drew rein before his house on Toulouse street. "What happier date for a marriage anniversary than that which shall be a matron's pride. Ha! the good news is before us," he continued, as his wife and daughter sprang from the house to greet them.

"Thank Heaven, you have all returned safe in life and limb," was the exclamation of the wife and mother, as she embraced her husband and sons.

"Thank the God of battles that he has given our country the victory!" was the response of the stout old patriot, who had seen same the foe flying from the muskets that rattled along Bunker Hill many years before. The lovers uttered not a word, but the beaming of their eyes spoke volumes of mutual happiness.

But if the joy of the lovers found no tongue, the clamorous and hearty shouts of the ebon-visaged servants, clustering around with eager faces that shone in the torchlight, made ample amends.

"I have a promise to fulfil," said the general, "and we must invite our friends as fast as legs can carry messages. William is to wed Clara this night. Come, wife, you are nimble with the pen—run, write to those who stand upon etiquette, and hurry verbal invitations to the rest. Send for your bridemaids, Clara, my sons shall be your groomsmen, William. I would that your father were alive to see this happy day—but he fell like a patriot at Lundy's Lane as did your grandfather at Monmouth. You spring from a race of soldiers, my dear boy, and this campaign has proved you worthy of your descent."

This was spoken as the general led the way into his parlor, and every word was heard by a dark-faced and haughty young man, who rose from a sofa as they entered.

"Well, nephew, we won the fight, and Huron St. Maur was not there," said the general, with a severe glance as the young man met his eye.

"Huron St. Maur, when taken prisoner at Detroit," replied his nephew, "pledged his word not to bear arms against England during this war. But my heart was with you all, uncle."

"If I had been at Detroit," retorted the old patriot, "Hull had died by my hand before he should have disgraced the name he won in the Revolution; and if I had been Huron St. Maur I'd remained a captive rather than accept liberty with my sword in limbo. But make ready, my boys, for the wedding. Be happy while you can, for the Briton is a tough dog, and may give us another bait before the week's out."

So saying the noble old soldier hastened to change his dress and scatter his orders, while his sons with William Avern, hurried to their apartments to exchange their war-stained garb for garments befitting the occasion.

Huron St. Maur, a coward in heart, villain in mind, had, as he said, given his parole at Detroit—given it before the dotard Hull disgraced the American arms, with a bloodless surrender, to an inferior force; for Huron St. Maur was traitor as well as poltroon. He had long loved his cousin Clara, both for the wealth that would be hers, and her lovely person. He was the son of the general's youngest sister, and his father had been a French officer, who served under La Fayette. Both father and mother sprang from a brave and warlike line, but the son had inherited none of their nobler traits. A shrewd schemer, a cowardly plotter, and a selfish, unscrupulous man, Huron St. Maur had lived thirty years, and not done one worthy deed. The name and influence of his uncle had obtained for him a captain's commission, but the tap of the drum, and the fume of gunpowder always drove his watery blood from his cheeks. Glad to forsake the field for the carpet, he had returned to his uncle's to push his suit for the heart and hand of Clara Dainemert. But he met blank repulse, for both were already pledged to the brave and handsome William Avern, a young man of noble character, good descent, and rising fame. Had he dared, Huron St. Maur would have fought his rival for the prize, but his craven soul instinctively shrank from a combat with the young Tennessean. St. Maur had already wealth enough to content any but a mercenary spirit, but grasping eagerly for more, and infatuated with the beauty of his cousin, he would have sold his salvation to call her and her fortune his own.

When left by his uncle in the parlor, as I have related, he hurried from the house with a throbbing heart and burning brain. He had not dreamed that the marriage was to be so sudden and all that day had prayed to the evil spirits he worshipped, to guide lead and steel to the heart of his rival. Now he saw him returned triumphant—a victor and a bridegroom. He hastened to do what his wicked mind had been plotting. Ere many minutes had passed, he stood in the private office of an Italian apothecary and chemist, a dastard who would have taken a thousand human lives, for as many gold pieces, if no danger of detection should menace him; a lean and withered old miser, who looked upon all mankind as so many vermin, deeming gold the only valuable thing on earth, so said report, and Huron believed it. Who can explain the insanity of such avarice, for Carlo Berbi made no use of his wealth, save to gloat over it in grim solitude.

"I have come for the almond," said Huron, as the chemist raised his small black eyes to his.

"Have you brought the price, young man?"

Huron threw a purse upon the table. Carlo counted out the yellow coins, one by one, trying the weight and ring of each, until he had numbered one hundred.

"Right," said he, as he swept them into his pouch, and stowed that into his bosom. "I only wish I could sell a sack of double almonds at that price—$500 a nut?"

Carlo Berbi then produced a large almond, neatly halved, and containing twin kernels, one of which was chipped at each end.

"Whoever swallows this," said the Italian, holding up the marked almond, "does himself no harm; but I would not be he who shall eat the other. Do not make a mistake."

"Never fear," said Huron, as the chemist glued the halves nicely together. "But how long does it take to effect its purpose?"

"Three hours—and leaves no trace,—my young friend. You ordered this to be made ready three weeks ago, and as you had not called for it, I began to think your courage had failed."

"The time had not arrived," said Huron as he placed the almond in his vest. "But tell me, old man, have we not met before?"

"Where? until three weeks since?"

"In Italy, where I lived some five years ago. There is an air—a tone in your voice which reminds me of some one I once knew in Rome," said Huron.

"Ah! I had a relative there; perhaps you knew her," said Carlo, gazing sharply into his face. "She was very beautiful, all said, and her name was Bianca, the Flower Girl."

Huron St. Maur grew ashy pale; but in a moment he replied:

"I have seen her—what has become of her?"

"She is dead! She gave her love to some heartless villan. He deserted her; and she died some twelve months or so, ago. The destroyer of her young life was a German count, I have heard. He had left Rome three or four years before Bianca died in my arms. I wish I could find the scoundrel. So long as Bianca lived she blessed him; but now that she is no more, I think that I would give all my gold to take an Italian's vengeance."

"And justly too" said Huron, the reprobate! Well, good night."

"Good night, my young friend. Do not eat the unmarked almond."

"Not I, indeed," laughed the heartless Huron as he turned and sped rapidly away.

When he again stood in his uncle's house, it was thronged with guests, among whom he soon was scattering jest and compliment.

"Ha!" said his old uncle, as he met him near the centre of the main parlor, "you are a laggard again. Absent from the field, and tardy at the wedding. William and Clara became man and wife just five minutes since."

"I claim a kiss from the bride," said Huron, as he saluted the new-made wife, and then grasped the hand of the happy husband.

"I wish you a hundred years of mutual joy, Cousin Clara—and you, too, William," said he, with smiling lips and devil's heart: and all that jubilant evening—who so gay as Huron St. Maur?

At length the festive time came on, and sparkling wine and wit, over frosted cake and dainty viands, ruled the hour. Then said Huron St. Maur, as he filled a plate with almonds:

"Come, Cousin Will—since we are newly-made kinsmen, eat a Philopœna with me; and who loses shall forfeit to the bride."

"Agreed," laughed the joyous bridegroom. "Seek a double almond."

"Ah! I am sure I have one here," said Huron, crushing the almond for which he had paid in gold. "This is yours—now! we eat together, and forfeit singly."

All unsuspecting, the gallant young warrior, nearer death than when British bullets had fanned his manly cheek that morn, ate the unmarked almond, while the Judas betraying with a kiss, half unconscious of the act, so fierce were the guilty throbbings of his heart, swallowed the other kernel.

Two hours after, when Huron stood aloof, watching the bride and her spouse as they moved in grace and joy in the lively dance, a servant approached and told him some one wished to see him at the street door. Huron impatiently followed the call, for he hoped to see that handsome face grow deadly pale, that manly form relaxed in sudden death, and to hear the crash of his rival's fall, at the very feet of his blooming blushing bride. He found Carlo Berbi at the door.

"You did not eat the unmarked kernel?" asked the old Italian eagerly.

"No, I ate the one chipped at the ends," replied the traitor.

"It is well," said Carlo. "Now go read this," and as he spoke he placed a billet in Huron's hand, and hurried away.

Carelessly, for his mind was upon the bridegroom, Huron St. Maur opened the note as he entered the parlors again, and read these words:

"With her last breath Bianca told me the name of her destroyer. She knew not what she told, for delirium ruled her speech. She said the true name of the pretended German Count was Huron St. Maur, of New Orleans. I sought that villain—I found him in you—your likeness so long worn upon the bosom of Bianca, guided me in my search—Bianca is avenged, for Huron St. Maur shall not live to see to-morrow's sun. He has swallowed the poisoned almond!

BIANCA'S FATHER."

How pale, how ghastly looked Huron St. Maur then! What sight so pitiable as the traitor strangled by his own treachery. He said not a word. He fled to the house of the chemist; the door was barred, he clamored in vain. When the next day came, the corpse of Huron St. Maur, lay cold and stark upon the ground, and the letter the icy hand grasped, revealed the mystery.

Bianca's father was never seen more in the Crescent City. His task was done.

A SENSIBLE BET.

One of the most singular wagers we ever heard of, was made in Chicago on the day before the municipal election in that city—Wentworth and Gurney, the opposing candidates for Mayoralty. The bet was between a Water street merchant and Ned Osborne of the Tremont House, the largest cigar and tobacco dealer in the city, and was to the effect that if Wentworth was elected, Osborne should have the privilege of kicking the Water street merchant aforesaid, from the Tremont House to Springer street. The day after the election, the merchant having lost, came to Osborne's store and presented his person to him for the contemplated kicks, and demanded that Osborne should take the stakes. Osborne had been training his right leg the day previous, and had armed his foot with a heavy cowhide boot, with soles as thick as two clap boards. The merchant started up by the Tremont, Osborne delivering a heavy kick as he started, but drew back his foot with a spasmodic action and paroxysm of countenance absolutely pitiful.

He tried another one, but the loser flinched not, and kept leisurely on his way, undisturbed by the volley he had received. The result of this was worse than the first, and he fairly curled up on the ground and howled with pain. The merchant stopped and calmly inquired: "Why don't you take the stakes?"

"What have you got in the basement of your pants?" cried Ned.

"Milwaukee bricks," shouted the merchant: "and we arn't within a mile of Springer street yet"

Osborne subsided, paid the champagne, and has been wearing a list slipper ever since.—Buffalo Republic.

WIMIN'S RIGHTS.

BY ARTEMUS WARD.

I pitcht my tent in a small town in Injianny one day last season, & while I was standin at the dore takin munny, a depytashun of ladies came up and sed they was members of the Runcumville Female Moral Reform & Wimin's Rites Associashion, and they axed me if they cood go in without payin.

"Not exactly," ses I, "but you can pay without goin in."

"Do you know who we air?" said one of the wimmin's, a tall & feroshus looking critter, with a blew cotton umbreller under her arm—"do you know who we air, sur?"

"My impreshun is," sed I, "from a kursere view, that you are females."

"We air, sur," said the feroshus woman—"we belong to a Society which bleeves wimin has rites—which bleeves in raisin her to her proper speer—which bleeves she is indowed with as much intellect as man is—which bleeves she is trampitd on & aboosed—& which will resist hensith & 4ever & 4ever the encroachments of proud & domineering man."

"I hope, marm," sez I, startin back, "that your intenshuns is honorable? I'm a lone man hear in a strange place.—Besides, I've a wife to hum."

"Yes," cried the female, "& she's a slave! Duth she never dream of freedom—duth she never think of throwing off the yoke of tyranny, & thinking & speaking & voting for herself? Duth she never think of these here things?"

"Not being a natral born fool," said I, by this time a little riled, "I kin safely say that she duth not."

"Oh, whot—whot!" screamed the female, swingin her umbreller in the air, "Oh, whot is the price that wooman pays for her experience!"

"I don't know, marm," sez I, "the price to my show is 15 cents pur individoul."

"And can' our Sosiety go in free?" asked the female.

"Not if I know it," sed I.

"Crooil, crooil man! she cried, & burst out into tears.

"Won't you let my darter in?" said another of the xcentric wimin, takin me afeckshunitly by the hand.

"Oh, pleas let my darter in! Shee a sweet gushin child of natur!"

"Let her gush!" roared I, as mad I cood strike at their tarnal noncents, "let her gush."

Whereupon they all sprung back with the simultaneous observation that I was a Beest.

"My feemale friends," sed I, "bee you leeve, I've a few remarks to remark: way them well. The feemale wooman is 1 of the greatest institooshuns of which this land kin boste. It's onpossible to git along without her. Had there been no female wimin in the world, I should scarcely be here with my unparaleled show on this very auspichus occashun. She is very good in sickness—good in wellness—good all the time. Oh, wooman!" I cride, my feeling wurked up to a high poetick pitch, "you air an angil when you behave yourself; but when you take off your proper apariel & (mettyforically speakin) git into pantyloons—when you desert your firesides & with your heds full of wimmins rites noshuns go round like roaring lyons seekin whom you may devour sumbody—in short—when you play the man, you play the devil, & air an emfatic noosance. My feemale friends, I continude, as they were indignantly departin, "way well what A. Ward has sed."

"I DID AS THE REST DID."

This tame yielding spirit, this "doing as the rest did," has ruined thousands.

A young man is invited by vicious companions to visit the theatre, or gambling hell, or other haunts of licentiousness. He becomes dissipated, spends his time, loses his credit, squanders his property, and at last sinks into an untimely grave. What ruined him? Simply "doing what the rest did."

A father has a family of sons. He is wealthy. Other children in the same situation in life do so and so, are indulged in this thing and that. He indulges his own in the same way. They grow up idlers, triflers and fops. The father wonders why his children do not succeed better. He has spent so much money on their education—has given them great advantages; but alas! they are only a source of vexation and trouble. Poor man, he is just paying the penalty of "doing what the rest did."

This poor mother strives hard to bring up her daughters genteelly. They learn what others do, to paint, to sing, to play, to dance, and several useful matters. In time they marry, their husbands are unable to support their extravagance, and they are soon reduced to poverty and wretchedness. The good woman is astonished. "Truly," says she, "I did as the rest did."

The sinner followin the example of others, puts off repentance, and neglects to prepare for death. He passes along through life, till, unawares, death strikes the fatal blow. He has no time left now to prepare, and he goes down to destruction, because he was so foolish as to "do as the rest did."

COVODE STRIKES A MINE!

A BLACK STRATUM OF REPUBLICAN CORRUPTION!

Defrees Confesses the Infamous "Smelling Committee" of Defrees!

The testimony of Defrees, elicited by the Republican caucho was nominated to raise votes enough to secure him but could not that he received a nomination from, shows press understanding that he was to give the exhalf of the proceeds of the printing to the doubtful States for the Republicans. That the lowing portion of his testimony discloses the motive that controlled the Republicans in nominating him.

"Q. Did you make, or cause to be made, to a caucus of the Republican party convened for the purpose of nominating a candidate for printer, a proposition that if you were elected you would give a certain portion of the profits of the printing to the Republican party, or place it in the control of a committee of that party to be used for the distribution of documents, or for electioneering purposes? On the night of the Republican conference, I authorized General Kilgore, of my State, to say that I would be liberal in my contribution to the dissemination of political truth among the people of the States of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Indiana, and Illinois, previous to the next Presidential election, for the purpose of informing them as to their true interests, and who they ought to vote for President, or something to that amount.

Q. Was that propisition in writing? A. I think it was.

Q. Have you a copy of it? A. No, sir; I have not.

Q. Did you state what amount you would give? A. Let me go on with my statement; General Kilgore said he would like to be authorized to make this statement, and I hastily drew up a note addressed to him, and it was to the effect of what I have said here; I am not certain whether I fixed the amount or not, but I think I did say that I would contribute in that way half the profits; it was done very hastily.

Q. Were you nominated by the caucus to whom that statement was made? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Were you voted for in the House as the candidate for printer to the House? A. I was, by every Republican except Mr. Adams, a son of John Quincy Adams.

Q. How long were you voted for? A. I do not recollect; it was postponed day after day for near a month; I do not know how many ballots there were; I think ten or fifteen I was voted for; there were one or two ballots a day.

Q. You were nominated on the day that Mr. Kilgore made that proposition? A. Yes sir.

Q. You were voted for as the candidate of the Republicans on the next day? A. No, sir, not the next day. Mr. Stanton moved a postponement several days, and it was done.

Q. You were nominated, though, on the day that the proposition was made as the candidate of the Republican party. A. Yes, sir.

Q. You stated, I think, that you received all the votes of the Republicans present in the House except that of Mr. Adams? A. Yes, sir. I should like to say that I regarded his course towards me as very strange; because, while an apprentice in a printing office, the first writing that I ever did was in support of his father for the Presidency against General Jackson."

This is a nice state of affairs truly. It is deplorable to think that the Republicans, who have instituted investigations for the purpose of unearthing all the hidden evidences of alleged Democratic corruption, were themselves engaged in an arrangement to partition the profits of the House printing among their weak and sickly partizans, and to use a portion of it as a corruption fund to carry the doubtful States. We can only imagine the sensation of John Covode and his fellow-laborers when they saw these disclosures but no language could possibly depict the depth of their anguish. There is nothing left for Covode but to retire to some sequestered spot beyond the reach of depraved and corrupt men, there to meditate in solitude upon the decay of public virtue. After all his labors to purify the political atmosphere, his own Republican friends go and nominate a man for Printer upon consideration of his using half the profits to influence elections; and the whole thing comes out most inopportunely, just as he is about showing up the Democratic politicians. Covode has been shamefully treated. And then to think that after all, the Republicans should elect a man Printer at the dictation of the outsiders—that this man was no printer at all, and that he sold out for twenty per cent, and agreed to take care of the wounded. What are we coming to?

HOW TO IMPRESS NEGROES.—When I can't 'swade 'em, I fritens em—dat is a great art and white preacher don't always understand de nature ob colored folks. Now, Pompey, dere, is one nature ob niger and one nature ob Massa Buckra. You can't scare our people by tellin' 'em dey'll go to berry hot place if dey is sinners, for no place is too hot for dem dat sleep on pillow of roasted sand, in de boilin' heat ob day, wid dere faces turned up to it like a sunflower. I scare dem by cold. I talk of frozen ribbers dat day must walk on barefoot, and ob snow drifts, and ob carryin' great chunks ob ice on dere bare heads forever and ever, like dischargin' cargoes of Yankee ice from Boston vessels, which kills more of dem dan yaller fever. I can't talk book larning, 'cause I don't know any. But I fritin dem to death almost, so dey call me old Scare Crow.

The negro-worshippers of New Bedford, Mass., have elected a black man named Thomas Bayne a member of the city council. Thus negroes in Massachusetts hold offices and sit on juries, and white men who cannot stomach negro equality will apparently have to emigrate from that State ere long.

GEN. FOSTER AT HOME.

Gen. Foster always has been a public man, but now more especially, anything relating to him will be of interest. He is one of nature's noblemen. In him the oppressed find a defender, the wronged an advocate, the poor a dispenser of alms. A lawyer of great ability and extensive practice, he might have been numbered amongst the most wealthy; yet by his extreme liberality to his friends and the needy, he at this day enjoys merely a competence of the good things of life—He is generous almost to a fault. When you first meet the man, you are struck with his extreme modesty of demeanor, and the genial glow of his sociality. You are assured at the first glance that you might ask for any favor, with full confidence of the delight [illegible] Such is the disposition and such is the character of the man whom the Democracy [illegible] Gen. Foster.

His personal appearance, is pressing and [illegible] height, gentlemanly. He is about medium expression of benevolence and active. A pleasant countenance over his eye flashes under a well formed and good humor plays upon his features. His mental capacity is fine intellectual and his forehead that bespeaks a well arranged, without being [illegible] His hair is dark, slightly tinged with [illegible] appearing. His home where he is best known is neatly and where he is best appreciated. At varying the poet's words but little, here

"None speak of him but praise him;
None know him but to love."

He seems to feel sorry that the [illegible] of the nomination has fallen upon him. Yet convinced that the interests and the will of the people demand it, he is as willing as he is able to buckle on his armor for the great battle before us.

It is related here that when he received the dispatch informing him of his nomination, he hurried to his home, and seemed desirous to shun the many friends who pressed around him, urging him to accept. Here was a noble sight, such as we seldom see; a man with the gilded bauble of honor and emolument of office forced into his hands against his own will. Verily, such a man, not only the Democracy, but all people will delight to honor.—State Sentinel.

WILL THE COAL FIELDS HOLD OUT?

At the present day we find the scientific predictions and popular fears about the exhaustion of coal are approached under the light of wider explorations, more exact surveys, and better knowledge of the structure of the coal deposits. That one hundred millions of tons have been taken annually out of the mines, with the certainty, judging from the past, that the amount will be doubled and trebled, and still go on to increase, as time and the world advance, is a startling fact to contemplate. The following is a table of the areas and solid contents of the coal fields in the principal countries of the world as given by Professor Rogers in his admirable "Description of the Coal Fields of North America and Great Britain," annexed to the "Government Survey of the Geology of Pennsylvania:"

| | Square miles of coal area. | Total square miles. |
|---|---|---|
| United States | 196,650 | 204,180 |
| Br. Prov. of N. A. | 7,530 | |
| Great Britain | 5,400 | 8,964 |
| The rest of Europe | 3,564 | |

The estimated quantities of coal in the principal countries, are as follows:

|---|---|
| Belgium | 36,000,000,000 |
| France | 59,000,000,000 |
| British Islands | 190,000,000,000 |
| Pennsylvania | 316,400,000,000 |
| Great Appalachian coal field name is given to the bituminous coal field which extends through parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, | 1,387,500,000,000 |
| Indiana, Illinois and Western Kentucky | 1,277,500,000,000 |
| Missouri and Arkansas Basin | 739,000,000,000 |
| All the productive coal fields of North America | 4,000,000,000,000 |

A survey of these figures will serve to tranquilize any immediate apprehension of a short supply of coal. It will be seen that at the present rate of consumption, 100,000,000 of tons per annum, the coal fields of Pennsylvania alone would meet the demand foor 3164 years. If this consumption were doubled, viz: 200,000,000 tons, the Great Appalachian field would meet the strain for 6937 years. If it were quadrupled, viz: 400,000,000, the productive coal fields of North America would suffice for the world's supply for 10,000 years to come. To this we must add the consideration that new coal fields are brought to light as exploration becomes more extensive and exact. Dr. Nordenskion, a learned Flemish traveller, who has just returned from a visit to the Arctic regions, announces that he discovered anthracite coal as far North as Spitzbergen. One of the most remarkable features of the coal system of the globe, is its liberal distribution over the Northern hemisphere, where it is most needed. And it will probably be found in the still unexplored regions of Central and Northern Asia.

A COUNTRY apothecary being out for a day's shooting, took his errand boy to carry his game bag. Entering a field of turnips, the dog pointed, and the boy overjoyed at the prospect of his master's success, exclaimed:

"Lor, master, there's a covey; if you get near 'em, won't you physic 'em!"

"Physic them, you young rascal, what do you mean?"

"Why kill 'em, to be sure," replied the lad.

"Sam, why am Senators like de fishes?" "I don't meddle wid de subjec" Pomp." "Why, don't ye see, nigga, dey am so fond ob de bate."

THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Democaatic National Convention which assembled at Charleston on the 23d ult., adjourned on Wednesday last, to meet at Baltimore on the 18th of June. A large number of ballots were had, but without effecting a nomnation. Mr. Douglas had 152 votes on the last ballot, lacking about 50 votes of the required two-thirds. A number of the Southern delegates have withdrawn, but their places will be supplied at Baltimore, with truer and more conservative men. Under the circumstances, we consider that this adjournment to Baltimore was the best thing the Convention could do. It will give time for reflection and conciliation, and will also give the Democracy a full view of the operations of the Opposition Conventions. We have no doubt the[y] will, on second thought" will set all[right] by the 18th of J[une] next. The nominee at Baltimore on [that] day, or we [miss] next, will be the next Pres[ident] the mongrel O[pposition] our guess. Meanwhile[enough to] keep will have more tha[n] from dissolving. They their own Conven[tion] didates almost beyond a will have twaps three. Their party has already doubt, and, by calling two Conventions, the ready divorce-Nothing, or "Constitutional Union" Convention to meet at Baltimore, and the Black Republican," ("People's") to meet at Chicago. Being thus divided, we can beat them, though we should have half a dozen candidates. Stand to your guns, Democrats!—We'll meet the enemy and they shall be ours!

☞Jos. W. Tomlinson, Wm. Keyser, A. J. Sansom, John H. Rush, Wm. P. Scott and John C. Black, Esqs., have been appointed Assitant Marshals to take the Census of this county.—They are all respectable citizens and competent to discharge the duties of their appointment.—Whilst this division of the Marshalship, will not be a speculation to any of the appointees, yet it will pay them better for their time and labor, than any other employment in which they could engage. We have no doubt that these appointments will prove generally satisfactory, though some good men who were applicants, have been disappointed. The faithful, however, never repent their constancy. Those who are disappointed now, may be the successful ones hereafter.

The Culmination of Fraud.

As a proper finale to the astounding frauds perpetrated at the recent election, the Black Republican managers of the City administration have rendered their iniquity perfect by "counting out" JOHN R. DOWNING, who was elected Controller dy several hundred majority. What else could have been expected, after the daring pollution of the ballot-boxes in reference to the other Democratic candidates. M. HUFTY ran so far behind his ticket, that at first it was considered a hopeless task to make an effort to save him from defeat by altering the election returns; but on reflection, it was affirmed, that the fraudulent victory for the balance of the Black Republican ticket would be a profitless one, unless the custodian of the City Treasury could be secured by the plunderers. Under this stimulating necessity, Mr. DOWNING has been wickedly deprived of the office to which he was undoubtedly elected. No Black Republican pretended to dispute this fact, until Wednesday afternoon last, when it was probably suggested by some official plunderer, that their work of fraud already committed would become valueless, unless crowned with the fraudulent return of the Controller. The deed has been done, and the only remedy now left us is an appeal to the Courts for justice. Frauds have sometimes been exposed by this process, when confined to two or three localities distant from each other. How much more readily can it be detected, spread as it was on Tuesday last, all over the City? But even this general diffusion of fraud was insufficient to defeat Mr. DOWNING. It required some cunning manipulator of figures to achieve so great a wrong, after the result of the election was known, and the majority for Mr. DOWNING declared at the various division pools as required by law. Who did this infamous deed? There are many men in the Black Republican ranks capable of doing even worse; but we are strongly inclined to believe that the suggestion came from one who has of late years become notorious in politics, and that the fraud itself was effected under his immediate direction. Although a cautious man, he is not always master of himself, and he must have had accomplices. We ask our Democratic friends to permit their minds to range through the various pelsons connected with office, that desire an easy access to the City Treasury, and then fix upon the person who have committed this fraud. They can scarcely miss the man. As a guard against their intentions, we must now look to the Select Council, until we can have Mr. DOWNING installed in the Controllers office, to which he was legally elected.

What course the other candidates on the Democratic ticket intend to take in the matter we are unable to say; but it seems to us, from facts that have come to our knowledge, partly obtained by actual observation, that there is ample ground for contesting the right of every one of the Black Republican candidates on the City Ticket, who now hold the certificates of a fraudulent election. Is this not worth a full consideration. We have the evidence of fraud in almost every division of the City Wards. Shall we not compact such evidence, and test its sufficiency before the proper legal tribunal.

The Democratic party has the most encouraging prosbect before it for future success. It now feels its strength, and will use it hereafter with giant effect. The troubles at Charleston are but as the gloom which precedes the dawning of day. The Convention acted wisely in adjourning to Baltimore. The time intervening between the adjournment and the re-assembling of the Convention will have a soothing effect upon the minds of delegates, and we shall have a candidate given us in June who will receive the united support of the whole National Democracy. Our thirty-five thousand votes will then have increased to forty thousand, under the pressure of which Black Republicanism must perish in Philadelphia.—Pennsylvanian.

The Charleston Convention.

The adjournment yesterday of the Democratic National Convention, in session at Charleston to meet in Baltimore on the 18th of June next, is a subject of congratulation, and is much more likely than any other course of proceeding to result in a restoration of that unio[n] and harmony necessary not only to success, but to the peace and welfare of the country. [The] adjournment will afford time for reflection, and the opportunity to the Delegates to [the] Nations derive the people, from whom all Con[gress] assembling of their power, so th[at] upon the not only for more the Convention [we] may hope harmonious [ac]tion. Without harmony more [than] is a farce. But more out harmo[ny] a nomina[tion] more clearly in June than th[ey] we shall [be] met. The Baltimore Convention of the [18]th inst., and the Chicago Convention of the 16th inst. will then have made their nominations, and the way to reconciliation will have been made a plain path for those Delegates who have seceded from the great body of the Democracy at Charleston. The look, as we ever have, with entire confidence to the final action of the Convention.—Pennsylvanian.

Destructive Fire at Chicago.

[From the Chicago Press and Tribune, May 2.]

The alarm of fire about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, was caused by a fire which broke out in the extensive five story wholesale clothing ware-house of Messrs. Barrett, King & Co., No. 27 Lake street. When first discovered, the fire was well at work in the rear of the fourth story, and thence spread rapidly, until it involved the entire upper part of the building. The fire destroyed the two upper stories and roof of the building, the entire floors below, however, being deluged with water. The adjoining store in the same block, No. 25, was injured in the roof, and the fifth story beside being deluged by water. The premises next on the corner of Wabash avenue, were a three story brick building occupied by E. Price, used below as a stable and above as a billiard room. The upper part of the rear of the west wall of No. 27 fell with a tremendous crash upon the roof of this stable, carrying everything to the cellar.

The marble block of Cooley, Farwell & co., on Wabasn avenue, was at timber in much danger, but saved by vigorous exertion.

Messrs. Barrett, King & Co., had in their establishment a very heavy stock, on which they had an insurance as follows: Home, N. Y., $10,000; Relief, do., $5,000; Lamar, do., $5,000; Niagara, do., $5,000; Merchants' Hartford, $5,000, Hartford, do., $5,000; City of New Haven, $2,500; Humboldt, $2,500; Northwestern, of Oswego, $5,000. Total $50,000.

Their stock was valued at $75,000, and about one-half is saved in a damaged condition.

Their building is owned by Liberty Bigelow Esq., and is insured for $10,00, as follows:—Humboldt, $5,000; City of New Haven, $5,000. The injury to the building is thus fully covered.

No. 25 was occupicd on the main floor and the two upper stories, by Messrs. Weber Williams & Yale, wholesale dealers in hats, caps and straw goods. Their loss, as it stands, is from damage by water, their premises being thoroughly drenched. Messrs. W. W. & Y. were insured for $20,000 in the following offices: Indemnity, Exchange, New Amsterdam, Manhattan and Lamar—about equally in each.

In the second and third stories over the last named firm, were the wholesale rooms of Messrs Rawson & Bartlett, dealers in boots and shoes. Their stock was much of it removed, but the remainder was badly wet. Insured as follows: Howard $2000, Lamar $2000, Ætna $5000. The building No. 25, forming one of a continuous five story block, is owned by Peter Page, Esq. An insurance of $2500 more than covers the loss.

Messrs, Burnham & Smith, wholesale druggists, occupied the third store of the continuous brick block, No. 23 Lake street. Their premises were badly flooded with water, caused by the bursting of a hose. Their store was injured about $500. It was owned by Peter Page, who had on both stores an insurance of $10,000.

The loss of Mr. Price in the falling of the wall upon his premises is a serious one. The horses and carriages had been got out in season but the loft was filled with valuable sleighs belonging to him and various other parties for whom he was storing them. These were all carried through to the cellar, taking in their route five tables from the billiard room, valued at $450 each. The building is owned by W. P. Gray, and was valued at $12,000, and the insurance on building and stock was $10,00 in the Peoria, Humboldt, and Hartford offices.—The insurance on the building itself was $5,000, $2,000 of which was in the New Haven City Insurance Company.

A BLOOD-CHILLING TRAGEDY.—The Howard County (Ind.) Tribune says that one day last week Mr. Levi Sizelove, in the eastern part of that county, after he had chopped down a tree, and had walked out on it to the top, discovered something writhing, and slowly approached it, thinking that the tree had fallen on a pig. What must have been his feelings when he discovered that it was his own six-year-old child! There was his child, its head almost entirely cut apart, and one of its eyes lying on its breast! The lower extremities still moved, but life had been horribly taken. The child had gone to the woods to seek its parent without any one of the family knowing of its absence.

THE EDITORIAL EXCURSION.—Wheeling, (Va.,) May 3.—The editorial excursion over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad will be very large. Over two hundred editors and reporters who are now here will start to-morrow for Baltimore and Washington in charge of Wm. Prescott Smith, esq., the master of transportation.

The female institute at Columbus, Miss., was destroyed by fire, 27th; loss $10,000. The fire originated from a fire balloon failing on the building.

DISCONTENTED MORMONS REBUKED.—It appears that Brigham Young is annoyed by reports and threats of apostacy on the part of certain weak backed saints. He discoursed to them at the tabernacle lately in a somewhat vigorous style. Said the prophet:

"I say to all grunters, grumblers, whiners and hypocrites and sycophants, who snival, crouch and crawl around the most contemptible of all creatures for a slight favor, should it enter my mind to dig down the Twin Peaks, and I set men to work to do so, it is none of your business, neither is it the business of all earth and hell, provided I pay the laborers their wages I am not to be called inquestion as to what I do with my funds, whether I build high walls, needen walls or city walls; and if I please, it is my right to pull down my walls to-morrow. If any one wishes to apostatize upon such grounds, the quicker the better; and if he wishes to leave the Territory, but is too poor to do so, I will assist him to go. We are much better off without such characters.

When a man begins to find fault, inquiring in regard to this, that and the other, saying, "Does this look as though the Lord dictated it?" you may know that that person has more or less of the spirit of apostacy. Every man in this kingdom, or upon the face of the earth, who is seeking with all his heart to save himself, has as much to do as he can conveniently attend to, without calling in question that which does not belong to him. If he succeeds in saving himself, it has well occupied his time and attention.

See to it that you are right yourselves; see that sins and folly do not manifest themselves with the rising sun. I repeat that it is as much as any one can well do to take care of himself, by performing every duty that pertains to his temporal and eternal welfare.

First believe in the Lord God Almighty, in his son Jesus Christ, and in his prophets that he sent in days of old, then believe in Joseph Smith, and do the works of the Father, before you question what I dictate to this people.

A CAPITAL TRICK THAT ENDED WELL,—Here is good story which we have just heard. A young man (a brother to "Sly Boots" perhaps, for, like her, he enjoyed a good joke) was studying in college. One afternoon he walked out with one of his instructors, and they chanced to to see an old pair of shoes lying by the side of the path, which appeared to belong to a poor man at work close by. "Let us have a little amusement at his expense," said the student. "Suppose we hide these shoes, and conceal ourselves in the bushes to watch his perplexity when he cannot find them." "I can think of a better trick than that," said the instructor. "You are rich, and supppose you put a silver dollar in the toe of each shoe, and then we will hied.,' The young man did so. The poor man finished his work soon, and went to put on his shoes. You can imagine his surprise when he stooped down to take out a pebble, as he supposed, from the toe, and found it to be a hard dollar, and then his absolute perplexity and astonishment when he found still another in the other shoe. His feelings overcame him; he fell upon his knees, looked up to heaven and uttered aloud a fervent thanksgiving, in which he thanked a kind Providence for sending some unknown hand to save from perishing his sick and helpless wife and his children without bread. Do you wonder that the young man stood in his hiding-place deeply affected, and his eyes filled with tears? Young friends, and you. Mis "Sly Boots," when you want to enjoy real fun, real pleasure at witnessing the perplexity of others, see if you cannot in some way imitate the student. Such tricks are worth performing.

FROM THE GOLD MINES.—Denver City, Ap'l 21, 1860.—Emigrants are steadily increasing in numbers, and an increased activity in business of all kinds is perceptible. Almost all classes of men seem to have some "dust," but very few seem to be "flush." The mining news is important. I have not yet been able to visit the diggings, but I have met men every day from different points—Gregory's Nevada, Missouri Flats, Russell's Gulch, Tarryall, Blue River, and many other places—and all are pleased and confident. "All we want," say they, "is quartz mills." There are mountains full of gold, but we must have machinery.—Some will make it pay with sluices and rockers, but the great mass of wealth lies in the immensely rich quartz, and which, without good machinery, rock that will yield from five to eight hundred dollars per ton, is perfectly worthless. Old California miners, who have been in the habit of seeing men get rich by crushing rock that would yield thirty and forty dollars per ton, may think this (five to eight hundred dllars per ton of quartz) fabulous; but sir, I have seen, and am posted.

JAPANESE MICE.—The Honolulu Advertiser of March 1 has the following: "While on board the Powhatan one of the sailors, who did not go to Japan for nothing, exhibited to us a sample of Japanese mice, which were of various colors—some pure white, others spotted.—They are perfectly docile and may be handled without being the least alarmed. It appears that in Japan, mice are quite a domestic creature and perfectly tame; they are entirely of a different nature from our mice and are much smaller. In fact, these little creatures may be considered quite a curiosity, as they can be kept in open boxes without any fear of their running away. This sailor had about a dozen of them in a shallow box, with a partition in the centre, and three or four small holes in it large enough to let them pass through, which they did continually, now and then catching hold of each other's tail, forming a complete circle, and running with such speed that it was impossible to distinguish their heads from their heads from their tails. In another corner was a small box (inside of the larger one) the lid of which had two holes in it. They would enter this in one hole and pass out the other as quick as thought—all for their own amusement. We were also informed that whenever the band played these little mice would dance and run round, keeping exact time with the music, and would stop whenever the music stopped.—Strange, but nevertheless true."

ELECTRIC TELEGRAPHS IN ENGLAND.—There are in England four lines of electric or magnetic telegraphs, namely, the Electric snd International Line; the British and Irish Magnetic, the South-eastern Railway Line and the London, Brighton and South Coast Railway Line. The first of these lines extends over a distance, of 6,193 miles, and the second of 3,656 miles, the third of 308 miles, and the fourth of 119 miles, making the total length of all the lines 10,186 miles. The length of the wires used in all these lines amounted in the year 1858, to 48,990 miles; the number of stations opened for the public was 953, and the number of instruments was 4,085.

SUGAR MANUFACTURING IN NORTHERN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—A correspondent at Bethlehem, N. H., under date of April 26th, writes to us:

"Large quantities of maple sugar and syrup are manufactured in this and adjoining towns, and the manufacture is extended far later in the season than in the Southern portions of the State and in Massachusetts. The business has been remarkable good this season. It is scarcely finished here, very few of the buckets having been taken up. Many of our farmers realize immense profits from their maple yards without any great extra exertion. Parker Beede, Esq., a farmer of Sandwhich for one, has manufactured about two tons without any special exertion, and others in Carroll county, and in this direction, have made similar amounts.

Tin or zinc spouts, about five inches in length, driven into the bark about an inch below the hole, are in almost universal use here, to convey the liquid sweet to the buckets. In Carroll county, the elder spiles are still in use, but many manufacturers are introducing long strings of wooden gutters to carry the sap from the hill-sides to their houses or to some convenient place for boiling it. Large flat sheet iron vats are also coming in vogue, instead of the old-fashioned kettles and boilers."

FURTHER FROM MEXICO. New Orleans, May, 5.—The Picayune has received later advices from Mexico by the arrival of the schooner Star from Vera Cruz.

A specie conducta of three million dollars was being made up, and would be escorted as far as the National Bridge. The Church Government was to receive an export duty of 7 per cent, upon the amount. It was to leave the capital on the 23d of April.

The American consultate at Vera Cruz was fully organized.

The U. S. sloop-of-war Saratoga and the steamers Brooklyn and Pocahontas, were at Vera Cruz; all well

The news of the army operations in the interior was indefinite.

The French and English Ministers were endeavoring to consummate an arrangement for the cessation of hostilities.

John Iverson was recently arrested and imprisoned at the South for aggravated polygamy; he had thirteen wives. The daughter of the jailor whose hospitality this insatiable polygamist was enjoying while awaiting trial, believed him innocent, pitied him, loved him, opened the prison doors, fled with him, became his fourteenth wife. After eight days of domestic bliss, the husband disappeared, and left neither tract nor money behind. A reward was offered for his capture; a description of his fascinating person was circulated; he was recognized in a village tavern by a man who thought of the reward offered, and set about preparing his coils for the victim. In order to instil confidence into his breast, he made his acquaintance, invited him to his mansion, and then off to procure legal assistance. When ee returned, his home was deserted alike by his intended prey and his own wife, whom Iverson had led astray. A wretched man suggests that a proper, though a terribly severe punishment, would be to compel the polygamimist to live with his fifteen wives at once.

A letter from Austin, Texas dated 18th ult., gives an account of a terrible tragedy which was enacted in that city on the 17th It appears some dozen men, living upon Onion Creek eight or ten miles from there, rescued a prisoner from the hands of the sheriff while having his trial for the supposed murder of an old gentlemen named Edwars, living in the neighborhood of the above-named parties. They shot thirteen six-shooter bullets into his head and body. He breathed for some two houas after. The prisoner's name was Taney. He was arrested in October, 1857, for shooting the son of the above-named Edwards, and was cleared in the spring or summer of 1858, on the ground of insanity. This happened in the court-house, and two of the parties engaged in the killing were arrested on the spot and are now in jail.

LATER FROM UTAH TERRITORY.—We have dates from Utah to the 14th ult., Lt. Mullan, whose wagon road party was at the northward, and who had lost all his animals through the intense cold, has sent to Camp Floyd for a fresh supply, but had to be denied. The troops in the Territory were in motion, complying with the recent general order for their removal. Hopes are entertained that the efforts of Gen. Johnston at Washington may prevent the departure of the whole army. Gov. Cumming has written to the Department in regard to the lawlessness and disorder prevalent in the Territory—urging the return of the federal judges, the legalization of the acts of the Mormon Court of Probate, or some other measure to restore the supremacy of the laws.

A YOUNG man who is serving out a term in the Michigan State Prison has written a long letter to his friends, dwelling upon the causes which led him into crime, and summing up the conditions of "tip-top life," as understood by rapid young gentlemen. He says: "You may not comprehend this term, but let me explain. By living a tip-top life is meant first to be idle; second, to drink whiskey or anything else, (and of course get drunk;) third, to frequent all places of coarse fun, such as cock fights, boxing matches, negro shows, &c.; fourth, to keep a concubine or two; fifth, to steal all they can lay their hands upon. This, then, is living a tip-top life. Thus have I fallen, and thus will thousands of young men fall."

ABOLITIONISTS IN THE CHEROKEE NATION.—We clip the following from the Fort Smith Times, Arkansas:

"We learn from the Cherokees that the abolitionists are holding secret meetings, and it is reported that all the newly initiated are compelled to take an oath of secrecy, and are required to furnish a certain amount of powder and lead. We fear this organization among the Cherokees has its origin in another part of the country, and that it is spreading secretly in the United States. The pro-slavery party in the Nation are becoming alarmed at the growing strength of the abolitionists in their country."

A TRAGEDY IN EARNEST.—In Wilmington, North Carolina, on Saturday evening, Joseph S. Canady, a young mechanic, who had just purchased a dirk, while jesting with a companion, playfully struck his own breast with the knife, crying, "Lay on Macduff!" His friend told him that he had stabbed himself. He stated he had not, but upon looking at his breast perceived the blood, when he uttered "Good Lord!" and, falling backward in the doorway, died almost immediately. It is supposed that when he struck himself with the dagger he intended to do so with the handle, as he had often done before, repeating dramatic quotation, and "suiting the action to the word."

GOOD—AND PERFECTLY TRUE.—The Rock Island Argus relates a good story of a discussion between a Democrat and a Republican at that place a few days ago. The Democrat contended for the superiority of the white race over that of the negro. The Republican claimed that, naturally the negro race was fully equal to the white race, and cited as an instance the great abilities and talents of Scipio Africanus! The Democrat replied that Scipio Africanus was a Roman, and therefore could not be used to support his position. The Republican as he thought, triumphantly declared that he was an African for his name was Africanus! This was a clincher, of course, and the Democrat gracefully yielded—but he had a sly twinkle in his eye, which caused some of the bystanders to hold their sides.

A LOUISIANA WILD MAN OF THE WOODS.—A wild man of the woods, who speaks French in a manner not at all wild, is furnishing a local topic to the New Orleans papers. He was caught in a clump of bushes on a plantation, thirteen miles below the city, armed with a revolver, which unpleasant instrument he popped at every passenger along the road. Having frightened an entire parish out of its wits, a strong force was mustered to capture him, and that job was safely accomplished. Nobody knows him, nor will he give an account of himself.

HANDSOME TESTIMONIAL.—A handsomely ornamented gold box, valued at $500 has been received by Mr. Wetmore, a New York merchant from the British Government, to be presented to Towsend Harris, Esq., the American Minister to Japan, as an acknowledgement for the services rendered by him to the English Ambassador.

A TRIAL of skill for the "Championship" and $125 a side, came off at Troy, N. Y., on Tuesday last, between two rival blacksmiths, named John M'Kenney, and Patrick Kennedy. The latter was declared the winner, having made in 10 hours, 20 dozen pairs of perfect horse-shoes—in all 140. The defeated smith, made in the same period of time, 17 dozen and 6 shoes.

Sir Edward Lytton Bulwer one of the most prolific and brilliant of modern authors, in a lecture recently delivered, said that he had published about sixty volumes upon subjects requiring more or less of patient research, and yet had never as a general rule devoted more than three hours a day to study, reading and writing, but that during those hours he gave up his whole mind to the subject upon which he was engaged.

PUBLIC BEQUEST.—The will of Mr Lawrence Johnson, type-founder in Philadelphia, lately deceased, contains the following bequests, providing that his real and personal estate shall excede $324,070, one year after death, To the Printers Benevolent Association, $1,000 American Sunday School Union, $3,000; Union Benevolent Association, $1,000; Temporary Home for Friendless Children, $2,000: Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind, $1,000; Deaf and Dumb Assylum, $1,000.

EARTHQUAKE.—The Athens (Tenn.) Post states that on Tuesday night, about 8 o'clock, a severe shock of an earthquake was felt at that place. The shock, which was preceded by a heavy jarring sound, lasted some five seconds. The wave, or motion, was from a little west of south. The shock was perceptible to people on the street as well as in-doors.

A TALL FAMILY.—A Tennesseean who is six feet six inches long, and is buying horses in Cincinnati, says he is the shortest of seven brothers, the heaviest one of whom weighs 330 pounds. The shortest one is pretty nearly as long as a fence rail.

AT LAST accounts the Mormons were somewhat excited at the introduction of the bill in Congress making polygamy an offence against statute law. They were drilling and arming to some extent, and if they will ever fight it will be in defence of their "pecuiiar institutions."

TWO BOYS have been tried at Bury St. Edwards for the manslaughter of a young girl. They were romping with her, and, by the way of a practical joke, had rolled her in the meal bin. The poor child escaped from them, and, after running a few yards, fell down and died, choked by the meal in her mouth and nostrils.

Hon. Edgar C. Wilson, a distinguished lawyer Northwestern Virginia, and at one time a representative in Congress from the Wheeling district, died at his residence in Morgantown on Tuesday evening last.

A runaway slave lately arrived in Cincinnati, on one one of the river steamers, boxed up in a crockery crate.

THE KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE offer a reward of one thousand dollars for a cure for the hog cholera, now prevailing in that State.

BROOM MAKING.—At the Deaf and Blind Institution, at Rocky Mount, North Carolina, they have gone into the manufacture of brooms, so that there will be no use of sending North for the article. An order for 12,000 is now being filled there for Richmond, Va.

SENTENCE OF A KIDNAPPER.—Norfolk, May 3.—Captain Bragley, of the British schooner Alice Rogers, was found guilty to-day in the United States circuit court of selling two free negroes, and was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Holloway's Pills and Ointment.—The greatest plague of life. Piles and Fistula—Though thousands are afflicted with these terrible scourges, few if any are acquainted with their cause or nature and resign themselves to the belief that they are incurable—but an explanation of their character will satisfy any man of common sense that they are remediable. Piles and their kindred disease arise from costiveness, overstraining or neglected appeals of nature; by removing these we extinguish the exciting causes. Holloway's Pills renovate the stomach and invigorate the action of the bowels, and a few applications of the ointment to the seat of the disease will eradicate the piles forever—try them and be convinced.

DIED.

Mrs. Caroline, Wife of Dr. George Anderson, died in Bedford Pa., April 23d 1860, aged 39 years.

Not only the bereaved husband and family friends, but all who knew her well, mourn the early and unlooked for death of Mrs. Anderson. Young and beautiful, educated and intelligent, she was yet meek and humble, kind and gentle to all. She was a consistent and lovely christian, and in connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church had followed the Saviour unswervingly from early childhood. She died in peace. S. B.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

WONDERFUL, BUT TRUE.

A few days since, Mr. James H. Beadle, of Huntsville, Alabama called on us and gave us permission to publish for the benefit of suffering humanity, the astonishing cure which had been effected in the case of his wife by the use of Dr. Hance's Vegetable Epileptic Pills. He informed us, that at the time his wife commenced using the medicine, her system was so entirely prostrated, by the number of spasms she had undergone, as to reduce her weight to 100 lbs. Since she has been taking the pills, she has entirely got over the spasms and has gained in weight and bodily health. She now weighs at least 200 lbs., and declares she is in better enjoyment of health than ever before in her life. Mr. Beadle also related the case of Mr. Harrison Lightfoot of the same town, who has been entirely cured of the worst form of Epilepsy by these same pills. Mr. Lightfoot's case was so bad that he never passed a week without having an attack, often falling down in the street. He has not had an attack for more than a year. Mr. Beadle thinks that if the pills ever fail in curing a case, it is for the want of a proper perseverance on the part of the person in taking them, as he feels assured from observation in the case of his wife, that if they are taken for a sufficient length of time, they will cure any case. Sent to any part of the country by mail, on the receipt of a remittance. Address SETH S. HANCE, 108 Baltimore st., Baltimore, Md. Price, one box, $3; two, $5; twelve, $24.

WORMS! WORMS!

☞Various theories have been started relative to the origin of intestinal worms, and yet the question is still a vexed one among medical authorities. Of one fact, however, all are informed, and in which all agree—the fatal nature of the influence they exert on children. At this season of the year, the attacks of worms are most frequent as well as most dangerous. We take great pleasure in directing the attention of parents to the Vermifuge of Dr. M'Lane, prepared by Fleming Bros. Pittsburg. It is one of the most extraordinary medicines ever introduced to the public, and has never failed of success when tried.

☞Purchasers will be careful to ask for Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge, manufactured by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa. All other Vermifuges in comparison are worthless. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Vermifuge, also his celebrated Liver Pills, can now be had at all respectable drug stores.—None genuine without the signature of FLEMING BROS.

THE GREAT DRAWBACK

To persons emigrating to the extreme south and western country, is the fear they have of the Fever and Ague—the most direful of all diseases. Every day we hear of persons attacked by the disease and made helpless in a short time, without any means of affording relief. In view of the great demand for a remedy Dr. Hostetter has presented his celebrated 'Bitters' whose curative powers for all diseases of the stomach have been universally acknowledged. The "Bitters," prepared after a long experience and deep study, have received the encomiums of the most eminent physicians, as well as all classes, from every part of our country. To those who doubt their many virtues, all we can say is to try them and judge for themselves respectively.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

☞See advertisement in another column.

DR. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE AND LIVER PILLS.

WE beg leave to call the attention of the Trade, and more especially the Physicians of the country, to two of the most popular remedies now before the public. We refer to

Dr. Chas. M'Lane's Celebrated
Vermifuge and Liver Pills.

We do not recommend them as universal Cure-alls, but simply for what their name purports, viz.:

THE VERMIFUGE,

For expelling Worms from the human system. It has also been administered with the most satisfactory results to various Animals subject to Worms.

THE LIVER PILLS,

For the cure of LIVER COMPLAINTS, all BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS, SICK HEAD-ACHE, &c. In cases of preparatory to or after taking Quinine, they almost invariably make a speedy and permanent cure.

FEVER AND AGUE,

As specifics for the above mentioned diseases, they are Unrivaled, and never known to fail when administered in accordance with the directions.

Their unprecedented popularity has induced the proprietors,

FLEMING BROTHERS,
PITTSBURGH, PA.

to dispose of their Drug business, in which they have been successfully engaged for the last Twenty Years, and they will now give their undivided time and attention to their manufacture. And being determined that Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills shall continue to occupy the high position they now hold among the great remedies of the day, they will continue to spare neither time nor expense in procuring the Best and Purest material, and compound them in the most thorough manner. Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS. Pittsburgh, Pa.

P.S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros. Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

For sale at the Drug Stores of Drs. Reamer & Harry, Bedford, and all other Druggists in the county.
May 20, 1859-1y.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

IT is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c.; these Bitters have no equal.

Diarrhœa, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infallible? All nations have their Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthener of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science.

FEVER AND AGUE.—This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, none of the above-stated diseases can be contracted, even in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

☞Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa., and sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, Canada, South America, and Germany.

MARK THESE FACTS!
THE TESTIMONY OF THE WHOLE WORLD

Holloway's Ointment.

Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, Sores and Ulcers.

All description of sores are remediable by the proper and diligent use of this inestimable preparation. To attempt to cure bad legs by plastering the edges of the wound together is a folly; for should the skin unite, a boggy diseased condition remains underneath to break out with tenfold fury in a few days. The only rational and successful treatment, as indicated by nature, is to reduce the inflammation in and about the wound, and to soothe the neighboring parts by rubbing in plenty of the Ointment, as salt is forced into meat.

Diptheria, Ulcerated Sore Throat, and Scarlet and other Fevers.

Any of the above diseases may be cured by well rubbing the Ointment three times a day into the chest, throat and neck of the patient; it will soon penetrate, and give immediate relief. Medicine taken by the mouth must operate upon the whole system ere its influence can be felt in any local part whereas the Ointment will do its work at once.—Whoever tries the ungeunt in the above manner, for the diseases named, or any similar disorders affecting the chest and throat, will find themselves relieved as by a charm.

Piles, Fistulas, Strictures.

The above class of complaints will be removed by nightly fomenting the parts with warm water, and then most effectually rubbing in the Ointment. Persons suffering from these direful complaints lose not a moment in arresting their progress. It should be understood that it is not sufficient merely to smear the Ointment on the affected parts, but it must be well rubbed in for some considerable time two or three times a day, that it may be taken into the system, whence it will remove any hidden sore or wound as effectually as though palpable to the eye. There again bread and water poultices, after the rubbing in of the Ointment, will do great service. This is the only sure treatment for females, cases of cancer in the stomach, or where there may be a general bearing down.

Indiscretions of Youth:—Sores and Ulcers.

Blotches, as also swellings, can, with certainty be radically cured if the Ointment be used freely and the Pills be taken night and morning as recommended in the printed instructions. When treated in any other way they only dry up in one place to break out in another; whereas this Ointment will remove the humour from the system, and leave the patient a vigorous and healthy being. It will require time with the use of the Pills to ensure a lasting cure.

Dropsical Swellings, Paralysis and Stiff Joints.

Although the above complaints differ widely in their origin and nature, yet they all require local treatment. Many of the worst cases, of such diseases, will yield in comparatively short space of time, when this Ointment is diligently rubbed into the parts affected, even after every other means have failed. In all serious maladies the Pills should be taken according to the printed directions accompanying each box.

Both the Ointments and Pills should be used in the following cases:

BEDFORD CLASSICAL INSTITUTE.

REV. JOHN LYON,
T. LYTTLETON LYON, A. M., } PRINCIPALS.

THE Summer session of this institution will open on Friday, the 4th day of May 1860.

It is the design of the Principals, to make this Academy, in all respects, a first class Institution, for the thorough instruction of youth of both sexes, and to prepare them for any profession or position in life.

The high moral and scientific tone of the school is well known to this community, and a strict discipline will be enforced.

A few boys, (the number is limited to ten,) will be received into the family of the Principals, as boarders.

The beauty of the scenery and the salubrity of the climate render Bedford a most desirable location for such a school.

Persons from abroad, visiting at the Springs, can be near their children during the summer.

It is desirable that pupils should enter at the commencement of the session, and no pupil will be received for less than one quarter.

TERMS. $200 per year, including boarding, washing, fuel, light, and Tuition in all the branches.

Terms for day scholars:

Per Quarter. $6.—English Branches. $7.50, Classical do &c.

MANHOOD.
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED.

Just Published, in a sealed Envelope,

On the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, Nervousness and involuntary Emissions, Impotency and Mental and Physical Incapacity.

BY ROB. J. CULVERWELL, M. D.,
Author of "The Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without Medicine and without dangerous Surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal to any address, post paid, on the receipt of two postage stamps, by addressing Dr. CH. J. C. KLINE, M. D., 480 first Avenue, New York Post Box 4586.
